OVERVIEW

We provide comprehensive legal representation to owners, landlords, and property management companies of multi-family properties throughout New England. Our attorneys assist with the legal needs of residential and commercial properties, from day-to-day landlord-tenant matters to complex enforcement and litigation.

Our services include drafting and reviewing residential and commercial leases, handling evictions and summary process actions, and pursuing the collection of outstanding rents and other amounts due. We also represent landlords in fair housing and discrimination claims, local enforcement matters, and sanitary and housing code actions.

With extensive experience representing multi-family properties, our team provides practical, responsive legal guidance designed to protect our clients' investments and help them effectively manage the legal challenges that come with owning and operating multi-family properties.
